All Bermudians are 'Onions' so famously revered by Mark Twain.

The onion is the pride and joy of Bermuda. It is her Jewel, her gem of gems. In her conversation, her pulpit, her literature, it is her most frequent and eloquent figure....it stands for perfection absolute. The Bermudian weeping over the departed, exhausts praise when he says, 'He was an onion!' The Bermudian extolling the living hero, bankrupts applause when he says, 'He is an onion!' The Bermudian setting his son upon the stage of life to dare and do for himself, climaxes all counsel, supplication, admonition, comprehends all ambition, when he says, 'Be an onion!'" [Mark Twain 1877]

Come by and be an ONION...“mmmm I love onions”
